
	Spring 2008 Colloquia Biofuels: The Economic and Environmental Interactions 2:30 -3:30 PM B15 Riley Robb	 Front of Riley-Robb Hall during the spring.
January 2008
January 21, 2008	Larry Walker, Professor, BEE	The Evolving Paradigm of Agriculture as a Provider of Energy and Industrial Chemicals
January 28, 2008	Antonio Bento, Professor, AEM	Introduction to the Economics of Biofuels
February 2008
February 4, 2008	Jack Huttner, VP at Genencor	The Ethanol Industry: Scale, Location and Future
February 11, 2008	Peter Woodbury, Professor, CSS 125 Riley Robb 11:15 - 12:15 PM	Geospatial analysis of opportunities and challenges for sustainable biomass feedstock
February 15, 2008	Harry de Gorter, Professor, AEM	Biofuels: Role of Trade Policy
February 18, 2008	NO COLLOQUIA
February 25, 2008	Hilary Mayton, Ext. Assoc., Plant Breeding & Genetics	The Case for Switchgrass
March 2008
March 3, 2008	Nathan Rudgers, Senior VP, Director of Business Development, Farm Credit of Western, NY	Public Policy and Biofuels
March 10, 2008	David Pimentel, Professor, Entomology	What are the energy and carbon savings from ethanol?
March 17, 2008	SPRING BREAK
March 24, 2008	NO COLLOQUIA
April 2008
April 7, 2008	Todd Walter, Professor, BEE	Biofuels and Water Quality Issues
April 14, 2008	Peter Hess, Professor, BEE	Biofuels and Air Pollution Issues
April 21, 2008	TBA
April 28, 2008	TBA	