

Facts & Figures

College of Agriculture and Life Sciences

Faculty and Students

Faculty:

376 (99%) with doctoral degrees

Students:

Approximately 3,200 undergraduate and 1,000 graduate students, making CALS the second-largest college at Cornell University

Undergraduates entering fall 2007:

631 First-year, 242 Transfer
 58% New York State residents
 73% were in the top 10% of their high school class
 78% had an SAT verbal score of 600+
 86% had an SAT math score of 600+

Class of 2007 profile:

Graduate or professional study: 28%
 Employed: 57%; median starting salary $40,000
 Primary areas of employment: Business, research, education, farming, and communication

Tuition and Fees 2008–09

Undergraduate (NYS resident):	$20,160
Undergraduate (non-resident):	$35,200
Graduate:	$20,800
Housing (avg):	$7,067
Dining: (avg):	$4,690

Budget 2008–09

Revenues:	$322.6M
Expenditures:	$316.5M

Dean

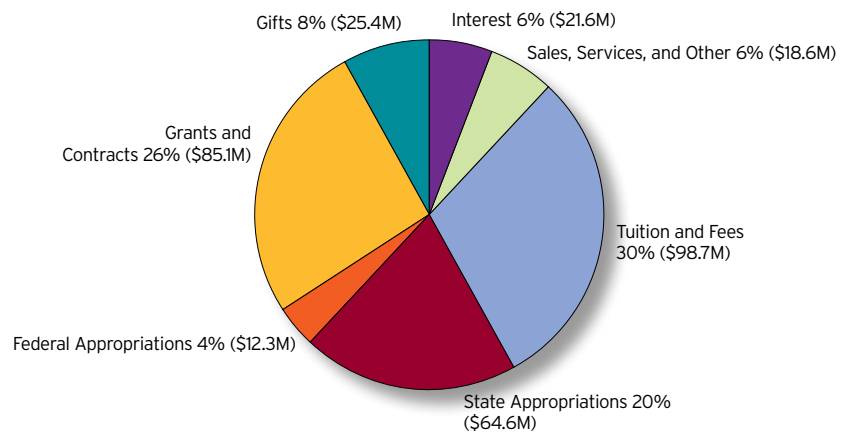

Susan A. Henry, Ph.D.
 The Ronald P. Lynch Dean of Agriculture and Life Sciences
 260 Roberts Hall
 Cornell University
 Ithaca, NY 14853
 607-255-2241
 sah42@cornell.edu

For more information

Alumni Affairs, Development, and Communications
 College of Agriculture and Life Sciences
 274 Roberts Hall
 Cornell University
 Ithaca, NY 14853-5905
 607-255-7651
 alsaa@cornell.edu

Revised September 2008

Revenues 2007–08 ($326.3M)

Expenditures 2007–08 ($316.4M)

